Introduction

Reverse phone directories have been around for a very long time. Because the functionality to search phone numbers by people's names and addresses is purely an Internet endeavour, it's been an "online-only" industry to date.

There are several reverse phone directories online right now, of which Whitepages is the most well-known and highly regarded. It has been available since 1996 (11+ years!) to give you an idea of how long these services have been around.

However, this report is not about landline phone searches. It's about reverse cell phone lookups, unlisted number reverse lookups and 800 reverse lookups. Because the availability of data for cell phones and unlisted numbers is not as prominent as that for landlines, there are unfortunately no companies offering a reverse cell phone directory like that of Whitepages.

Because of this, and the lack of a large public database of cell phone numbers, certain companies such as Reverse Phone Detective have had to collate their data into private searchable databases which they charge for access to. Their charges are totally justified with the sheer fact that they have to go to around four separate places to get different information... all of which is collected and placed into a large database.

With all of the admin work, time and effort needed to collate the data from the various sources and place it all into a central database, the services are barely breaking even with the typical fees they charge (more on that later).

To keep their data hidden from public eyes and to protect the information on the database, Reverse Phone Detective and others have had to resort to offering reverse cell phone lookup searches basically allowing anyone to search for someone by using their cell phone number.

When the records for that number are found in the database, the system asks for a small fee to be deposited for the time and effort taken, completion of which results in the searcher being granted access to the records they want.

This type of system has allowed tens of thousands of people find other people just by using their cell phone number. It's a fantastic service which I have personally used many times without a glitch.

Many people are now discovering the benefits of a reverse cell phone lookup or a reverse unlisted number lookup, all with their different reasons for performing a search. Please read on to see why people are performing reverse cell phone lookups...

When You Would Perform a Reverse Cell Phone Lookup

Reverse cell phone lookup searches are becoming more and more popular, with many people finding the addresses and contact information of lost friends, family and other counterparts.

The reasons why people perform reverse cell phone lookups are far-reaching and often extremely personal so it is best to look at general reasons why people would look up information from cell phone numbers.

Taken from our very own frequently asked questions, Reverse Cell Phone Searcher believes these are the biggest reasons why people would use our reverse cell lookup service:

1. Finding the source of a harassing (“prank”) caller.

This is a pretty large subject in itself in that the annoying prank caller will likely say some very hurtful things and do a lot of damage just for some laughs and a joke. It’s a big drain on anyone’s confidence when they don’t know who keeps ringing them, especially if the harassing caller seems to know a lot about their victim!

We’ve actually written an article and a blog post on this issue. It’s a large problem and can easily be solved by a reverse cell phone lookup.

2. Investigating a suspicious number on your partner’s phone

Without going into too much detail about relationships – if a suspicious number is found on your partner’s phone, then you’re going to want to know who’s it is and why they’re talking to your partner. Normally, it will just be a friend who’s changed their number, but to make sure – you can always perform a reverse cell phone lookup.

3. Research a number that appeared on your phone bill

Maybe you’ve got a daughter who’s constantly on the phone to God knows who or maybe you just don’t know what a certain number is doing on your phone bill... Just perform a reverse phone lookup and let all be revealed!

4. Locate an old friend from high school or college

Finding old friends when you just have their phone number used to be a big chore but now – you just have to type their phone number into a reverse phone lookup and you will see all their address information and contact details.

5. Lookup someone's exact address

Maybe you think they are liars or for another reason, you might want to check someone's address. You can do that with a reverse phone lookup too.

It's those five reasons which are the five biggest factors in people performing reverse phone lookups. There are a ranging set of reasons, all with their own reasons.

No matter if you have one of the troubles above, or if you have another trouble that requires a reverse phone lookup then you'll undoubtedly want to know how to perform a reverse phone lookup.

How to Perform a Reverse Phone Lookup

Reverse cell phone lookups can be done in two ways: the unreliable free way and the guaranteed way.

We will now look at both methods:

1. Free Reverse Phone Lookups

Searching for Reverse cell phone numbers is a thankless task mainly because of the lack of freely available information. Getting contact details for a cell phone number is more than likely going to cost you a small fee, unless your adversaries have been careless in what they do with their personal information.

You see, if you're lucky – there is a technique for finding cell phone & unlisted phone numbers for free – using free resources.

Notice I said “if you're lucky” there? That's because this technique relies on your “target” being rather careless in where they post their address & personal information in places such as forums, chat rooms or even MySpace.

Using this free technique, we're going to try and find if your target has posted any personal information and if so, we will grab it.

This is possible because if your target likes to use social sites, such as MySpace and they are not adverse to giving away contact information – they most probably have put their cell phone number up in the form of “xxx-xxx-xxxx” or “xxx-xxxx” depending on whether they include an area code.

To conduct a free lookup, you should head over to Google.com and type the phone number in quotation marks. This should bring up only results with that exact search term in.

If that brings up no results, it would be wise to look on MySpace.com or even the likes of Craigslist.org to see if your contact has been on those.

Failing that, and evidently your target is keeping their personal information a secret, then it would be worth performing a reverse cell phone number lookup for paid contact details.

This form of paid reverse cell phone number look up guarantees to find the address & contact information for any cell phone & unlisted number from an extensive US numbers database.

2. Guaranteed Reverse Cell Phone Lookups

Cell phone records are a virtue that seems to elude so many people online. There are many folks who would love to find out contact details, addresses of mysterious callers or even information about people whom they only know the cell phone number for and are struggling to find a source of reliable, correct information.

To find cell phone records online, you have to first understand where the records from paid resources come from. By searching on our Reverse Cell Phone Searcher, you are automatically scouring a database of cell phone numbers which have been collected from geographical databases and data made available by the wireless companies.

This means that you can only access such data as: Address & Location, Wireless Provider and Owner name because it's against the law to publish details of customer's statements and accounts... which would land the wireless companies in a lot of trouble.

Because this data has been collected from a wide variety of places, with lots of work and effort being invested into it – the provider of such details places a small fee on the lookup facility. It's free to search, but you have to pay a small amount to reveal the contact information.

It's well worth taking a look at and is guaranteed to work 100% of the time!
